

Balancing Act: Assets, Welfare Reliance, and Consumption in Post-Recovery Contexts

Table A1. Survey information

Data	Description	Source	Website
Panel Study of Workers' Compensation Insurance	The dataset tracks individuals over a five-year period following treatment for workplace injuries.	Labor Welfare Research Institute under the Korea Workers' Compensation & Welfare Service	https://www.pswci.or.kr/Data/Download.aspx?rnd=148311.564767878

Table A2. Variables

	Variable	Description	Note
1	Consumption	Household consumption is operationalized as the average household expenditure	Unit: 10,000
2	Homeownership	Homeownership = 1 Otherwise = 0
3	Real estate	Real estate value reflects the total assessed value of owned property, such as the market price of a house	Unit: 10,000
4	Wealth	Total wealth is calculated as the sum of real estate value and financial savings.	Unit: 10,000
5	Labor and financial income	Household-level labor and financial income are analyzed separately from household-level welfare income	Unit: 10,000
6	Household welfare income	Household welfare income includes workers' compensation benefits (e.g., unemployment benefits, disability benefits, and injury compensation benefits), public pensions (e.g., the national pension and occupational pensions), and employment insurance benefits (e.g., maternity protection benefits)	Unit: 10,000
7	Welfare reliance	Ratio of household welfare income to total household income
8	Education	No education = 0 Primary = 1 Middle School = 2 High School = 3

		Vocational College = 4 University or higher = 5
9	Sex	Female = 1 Otherwise = 0
10	Marital Status	Married or living with a partner = 1 Otherwise = 0
11	Household Size	The number of household members
12	Disability	Presence of a disability resulting from the injury
13	Employment	Being employed or self-employed = 1 Otherwise = 0
14	Years Passed	The number of years since the injury	